External imbalances and macroeconomic policies in developing countries

Alberto Botta

Program:
I. The national accounting of an open economy and the orthodox interpretation of Balance-of-Payments (BoP) crises in developing countries.
II. The financial side of neoliberal policies and macroeconomic instability in developing countries in the 1990s.
III. The post-Washington Consensus in the 2000s: a model of natural resources booms, financialization and BoP cycles in developing countries.
IV. Current hot topics in developing countries: inequality and fiscal activism

References: